

You can use POLITICO Pro's Regulatory Compass to follow the entire rulemaking process and our Agency Directory to learn more about the officials and staffers who draft and edit regulations.

THE REGULATORY PROCESS

Federal agencies use a rule or regulation to implement laws after Congress writes them and the President approves them. Regulations bring legislation to life and outline what individuals, businesses, or other organizations can or cannot do.

